Thinking Out Loud

By H. M. L.

The Twin Cities put on a splendid Fourth fiesta last Monday. The Nugget compliments all those who put their shoulder to the wheel and put the big celebration across into another page of gold camp history. Credit and thanks to George Gildersleeve and his energetic assistants. There is something homespun and characteristic about Nevada City and Grass Valley Fourths. We cannot quite call to mind the right adjective, but think "indigenous" comes close to describing our lusty holiday activities and demonstrations.

We liked everything about it, especially the Murchie Miner's bear cub and Bob Gates' yip-yapping hounds. We liked the way our Chinese friends from Sacramento turned out smartly in green uniforms with their drum corps. The two high school bands always please the eye and ear, and lend enchantment to any parade. The girls from Lake Vera in their Lincoln green shorts, raising young voices in merry ditties up and down Broad street remind us that Nevada County is host to legions of young visitors through the summer. The old stage coach and its load of pioneers, sponsored by the Native Sons, never loses its allure. We have watched many a stage coach pass Orchard Hill, horses lathered and tossing their manes, getting ready for their dash down State street and abrupt halt before the old St. Charles Hotel in Santa Barbara. Oh! Boy! Those were the days!

One float did not appear in the parade. It was sponsored and decorated by the CIO. On one side was a picture of John L. Lewis and on the other a picture of President Roosevelt. The sponsors were persuaded not to participate. Sheriff Tobiassen believes in "safety first", and felt that the picture of John L. Lewis appearing under CIO auspices on our streets might result in unpleasant repercussions.

O. Yanus, who died as a result of injuries sustained in the truck smash up on Nevada street, was a CIO. He and four friends were engaged in hauling wood for the family of Jim Vassion, one of the January 20th rioters now in jail. Yanus lost his life doing a kindness for a mother with seven children. The truck was old and decrepit. It had no brake and when low gear, in which they were traveling down the steep street, gave way, the truck catapulted down hill, hit a stone wall and was converted into a tangled mass of steel and splinters. Two others were badly injured. A footnote to this tragedy: The Nevada City Benevolent Society is temporarily caring for the widow of Yanus and his four young children.

Second footnote: The board of supervisors on Tuesday stated that they would afford Mrs. Yanus such emergency aid as necessary until she can secure orphans state aid. The board feels that it is its duty to extend help to those that are helpless. The board along with the tax payers and other citizens cannot but chafe under a condition which imposes upon them this obligation. The late Mr. Yanus was one of many thousands of John L. Lewis' deluded followers. While the communist International Labor Defense and the CIO heartlessly leave those whom they have used and flung aside in destitution to the charity of those whose livelihood they the trying to destroy, they can raise thousands of dollars to carry on a futile legal battle to free those members who have been arrested and convicted of law violation. All to the greater glory of John L. Lewis and bright young attorneys employed in their defense.

There is an ideal of American citizenship that we wish mightily we and all citizens could attain. That is to hate wrong principles but not to hate those who espouse wrong principles. In other words let us hate heartily the kind of a world John L. Lewis would make for us, but let us not hate John L. Lewis, because very probably Lewis thinks he is right.

"When thy neighbor's ox falleth into the ditch", saith the Good Book, "help him out." Or words to that effect. Accordingly with candidates clamoring for cards, letterheads, envelopes, and window placards, we observed the Sabbath and most of the Fourth, but did squeeze out a few hours labor to help those who needed printing. If you should hear anyone say that business is not good, send them to the Nugget office to get the facts. Business is good and there is every prospect of its getting better and better.

ROTARY ENVOY REVIEWS GREAT S. F. CONVENTION

The Rotary club yesterday began its year under the leadership of Andy Holmes, the new president. Clyde Gwin, who was the club's delegate to the Rotary International convention in San Francisco concluded his review and commentary on that event. His two addresses were substantially as follows:

By CLYDE GWIN

The 29th annual convention of Rotary International opened officially in San Francisco, 8 a. m. Sunday, June 19, in the Municipal Auditorium, Civic Center. Upon reaching the Plaza the entrance to the auditorium was quickly seen by the giant composite convention flag hung just over the entrance and composed of the flags of all nations. The auditorium proper, referred to as the "arena" had been transformed into a beautiful park with shaded walks, a profusion of flowers and settees here and there where friends could meet and have a chat. It was in this "House of Friendship" that one went to look for friends from other parts of the world.

The delegates were entertained Sunday evening with a concert by the San Francisco Symphony Orchestra, directed by Gaentano Merola. It was a musical treat.

CRIPPLED CHILDREN

Among the several assemblies scheduled for Monday morning, I selected the crippled children's assembly at the Sunshine School on 25th and Florida, and had no reason to regret my choice. This work among crippled children of San Francisco was first started by the San Francisco Rotary Club in 1924 and in 1926 was taken over by the Public School Administration. At present there are 114 orthopedic cases, and 160 children in the health school. The school itself is a beautiful building, and evidently equipped with every conceivable accessory that can be used in restoring the crippled children to a normal life.

PLENARY SESSION

The first plenary session of the convention greatly overtaxed the seating capacity of the Fox Theatre in which the plenary sessions were held, and several thousand delegates had to be turned away. The rostrum was beautifully decorated with flowers, and distinguished especially by the display of flags of all nations on the curtain in the rear. One noticeable feature was the excellent loud speaker system, probably aided by proper acoustics in the building. There was no consciousness of any amplification. It just seemed as if the speaker was speaking naturally, but he could be heard in every part of the building distinctly.

The address of President Duperry was both an interesting travelogue of his tour among Rotary Clubs of the world and an inspiring message.

President Duperry stressed the fact that international mindedness as Rotarians conceived it is not concerned with removing frontiers and wiping out the traditional characteristics of each country diffusing them all into one, but the harmonious and peaceful co-existence of all national civilizations.

VOCATIONAL ASSEMBLIES

Tuesday morning was devoted to assemblies by vocation. The assemblies were held at the respective places of business of the San Francisco representatives of these vocations, in order to give the proper atmosphere. In the afternoon the various Rotary Districts held their business meeting. I, of course, attending the 15th District meeting in company with President Harley Leete. The District Governor's report was very encouraging, showing an appreciable gain in membership in all but five clubs, all clubs solvent, the addition of seven new ones during the year. President Leete had cause for feeling proud when it was annouced the Nevada City club had made the greatest percentage of growth in membership. The new District Governor, Joe N. Burroughs, of Oakland was introduced and made a very fine talk.

PRESIDENT'S RECEPTION

In the evening occurred the formal reception and ball in honor of President and Madame Duperrey and other officers of Rotary International and their ladies, a beautiful and magnificent affair. One feature that the delegates never ceased to marvel at was the way in which the beauti-

PEOPLE VS. G. SPEAR HEARING POSTPONED

The case of the people vs. Grant Spear set for Monday, July 11, will not be heard on that date as scehduled. Preliminary motions made by the defendants counciy needs be disposed of first. Motions have been made to disqualify Judge Tuttle and also a motion for change of venue.

Similar motions were made prior to the trial of Henry Yuen, C. E. Circle, Pete Zederich, James Vassion and Roy Staten, who were convicted and are now serving terms in the county jail.

Spear, who due to injuries received at the riot at the junction of the Red Dog and Murchie roads, was unable to have his preliminary hearing at the same time as the other five defendants, was later given a hearing and held to answer by Judge W. L. Mobley. He is now out on $2,500 bail.

CITY COUNCIL HEARS PRAYER TO IMPROVE STREETS

The City Council last evening assured C. B. Embrulio of Oakland it would make no protest against his installing a new barroom in the Janiss property on Broad street, unless his conduct of the business proved objectionable. It was stated that Embrulio is taking a five year lease of property with an option to purchase in event the business proves profitable. Embrulio stated he could produce letters proving his good character while conducting the same business in Oakland for nearly four years.

Ludwig Netz and other citizens appeared before the board asking that Spring street be paved. Mayor Hall explained that probably the next big job that city will undertake is to put a new cement bridge across Deer Creek to serve both Broad and Main streets. At present none of the bridges entering Nevada City can take a heavier load than seven tons. This actually limits trucking on the Tahoe highway because all traffic in this road must pass through this city. The cost of a four way bridge is estimated at $16,000. The following bills were ordered paid:

TRUCKEE CIO IS PUTTING BAN ON SHERIFF'S CARDS

Any merchant in Truckee, displaying the window cards of Sheriff Carl J. Tobiassen, will be boycotted. This in effect is what is posted on a bulletin board in Truckee. Some of the merchants phoned down to Sheriff Tobiassen and stated that their business was threatened. The sheriff said: "Take the cards down. I don't want too see you lose money on my account. The window cards do not vote."

Nevada City and Grass Valley merchants declare that they have escaped this particular brand of fascism ,which Red Adams puts into effect in Truckee. They believe that it won't and can't happen here. It is estimated that the CIO members in Truckee number about 150, of which perhaps 100 have been in the state long enough to acquire residence and the franchise. Truckee citizens state that it is another case of what President Roosevelt once described as a very short tail wagging a very long dog.

Incidentally one Truckee business man defied Red Adams and his CIO cohorts. He is the proprietor of the Goodfellow Cafe. At last accounts he was still displaying Sheriff Tobiassen's card in his window.

HYDRAULIC ASSOCIATION MEETS IN AUBURN SAT.

The regular meeting of the California Hydraulic Mining Association will be held at the Freeman Hotel in Auburn tomorrow at 2 p. m. Col. Warren T. Hannum, chairman of the Debric Commission, with other members of the commission and their staff are expected as guests at this meeting. Captain Hill will give a very interesting review on "Aerial Photography."

WORK IS BEGUN ON DOWNIEVILLE BRIDGE

Vic Halleck, Sierra county supervisor in Nevada City yesterday, stated that work has been started in Downieville on construction of the one way bridge over the North Yuba to the Sierra county court house. The bridge while but wide enough for one way traffic, will have raised pedestrian walks, and actually be wider than the one washed away in the December flood. It will have a 20 ton capacity and will be supported on steel trusses. A Sierra county crew is engaged in redecking and repairing the bridge at Goodyears Bar which was also badly damaged in the December flood that worked such havoc in Downieville and for several miles downstream.

WPA CREW IN FOREST

The Tahoe Forest has 20 men from the federal allotment of the WPA employed on roads throughout the forest areas clearing roads. The heavy wind storm last sprig tore down many trees and branches and heavy rains and snow damaged the roads considerably. A truck with crew cleared roads in the Quaker Hill and Mt. Oro district several weeks ago. The men under Richard Haddy, as crew foreman, have just completed clearing the new Omega road.

FOREST SERVICE FUND FOR REPAIRING DAMAGE

The Tahoe forest shared in the special appropriation recently signed by the president to repair last winter's flood damage, according to DeWitt Nelson, forest supervisor at Nevada City. The principal damage was to roads and trails, with considerable damage to be repaired in the camp grounds. The Big Bend bridge is being constructed now, and a temporary foot bridge has been constructed so that campers can walk across and carry their equipment. No appropriation was made, Nelson says, for repair of wind damage, but this work is being done as rapidly as possible by diversion of the forest's regular funds from other projects. Many roads are filled with down trees and it probably will be late summer before some of them have been cleared in Nelson's opinion.

Bids On Narrows Dam Construction To Be Advertised August 6

The California Debris Commission is rushing plans and estimates for the Narrows debris dam and expects to advertise for bids for construction work on August 6.

This was the message received yesterday by Congressman Harry Englebright who returned late Sunday from a long hard session in Washington D. C. The highlight of his achievement during the session of Congress just closed is the bill which passed both houses and became law providing that funds received from sales of power and water following the construction of the debris dams shall be used to repay the costs of the dams and thus reduce the rate per yard that placer operators will have to contriute. Englebright estimates that sales of water will range from 12½ to 24 per cent of the annual income earned by the dam in yardage fees, paid by the placed operators, and will decrease their yardage rate by just that much.

The saving thus made will enable the placer operators, if they so desire, to increase their capital expenditures for water and equipment.

Those who wish to utilize the power or the stored water for irrigation purposes, resulting from the construction of the dams will of course, secure permits from the Federal Power Commission and the California Division of Water Rights.

Another aspect of the advantages flowing from the law, which Congressman Englebright drew up and sponsored, is that the money derived from the debris dams can be used as a revolving fund for building new debris dams when those now being constructed are filled with placer and quartz mining debris.

Congressman Englebright, totaling up all appropriations for his district, made by Congress during the session that has just ended, finds that the sum exceeds $17,000,000. There was $9,000,000 for the Central Valleys project, and a total of $2,500,000 for the debris dams. There was over a million for improvements in Yosemite and Mount Lassen national parks, large sums for roads and improvements in the national forests in his districts, and for repairing the damage done by floods and high winds last winter in the national forests and parks.

In the last few weeks of the session President Roosevelt sent to Congress a special message on conservation of the nation's forest resources. On the committee which the President asked for are five senators and five representatives. The senators are: Bankhead of Alabama, McNary of Oregon, Mahoney of Wyoming, McAdoo of California and Smith of South Carolina. Representatives are Englebright, Fulmer of North Carolina, Reed of New York, Pierce of Oregon, and Doxie of Mississippi. They are to make a preliminary report at the opening of 1939 session of Congress, and must begin their survey this summer. An appropriation of $50,000 was made to defray their expenses.

The President in his message stated: "Our forest problem is essentially one of land use. Forest lands total 615,000,000 acres." The President recommended that a committee be named to study

1. The adequacy and effectiveness of present activities in protecting public and private forest lands from fire, insects, and diseases, and of cooperative efforts between the Federal Government and the States.

2. Other measures, Federal and State, which may be necessary and advisable to insure that timber cropping on privately owned forest lands may be conducted as continuous operations, with the productivity of the lands built up against future requirements.

3. The need for extension of Federal, State, and community ownership of forest lands, and of planned public management of them.

4. The need for such public regulatory controls as will adequately protect private as well as the broad public interests in all forest lands.

5. Methods and possibilities of employment in forestry work on private and public forest lands, and possibilities of liquidating such public expenditures as are of may be involved.

Regarding the political outlook Mr Englebright declared that there was little doubt in the minds of competent observers that the Republican party will considerably increase the number of its members in both houses of Congress. He stated that it will not require anything like a mapority of Republicans to place definite limits on some of the administration's plans, since there is a large body of Democrats who resolutely oppose some of the New Deal policies, that would readily unite with Republicans in opposition.

He states that there will undoubtedly be another attempt to pass a reorganization bill. In this matter Nevada City has a very deep interest, for the shifting of the forest service, as is proposed, from the Agricultural department to the Department of the Interior under Ickes, would undoubtedly result in the throwing the forest service ope as a kind of catch-all for lame duck politicians, time serving henchmen and incompetents generally, of which ever party happened to be in power, and very decidedly so under Ickes, w ohis a notorious demagogue and devoted adherent of the spoils system.

CHAMBER HEAD THANKS ALL WHO AIDED FIESTA

Fred E. Conner, president of the Nevada City Chamber of Commerce, yesterday expressed gratification over the great success of the Fourth of July celebration and thanked all those who had helped. He said that he had been complimented by many visitors from other cities who were guests here at one time or another during the three day celebration. He especially thanked George Gildersleeve, chairman, and his committee, for their devotion, untiring efforts and careful business management, which had made the fiesta one of Nevada County's characteristic, outstanding events. He also expressed thanks for the Associated Oil company's splendid sound amplifier over which all announcements were made during the celebration. Bob Evans, local distributor for Associated obtained the use of the sound truck free of charge for the committee.

One of the factors, to which a large share of the Fourth success may be attributed, was the whole hearted aid given by Jim Purvis, local Chevrolet dealer. His wide acquaintance with talented entertainers resulted in obtaining many features in the way of floor shows and dance numbers, that heretofore most celebrations here have lacked. The committee expresses its thanks to Mr. Purvis for the help given and to the entertainers he was able to engage for this event.

Practical Faith

What would be your reaction, in these days of financial stress, if someone were to tell you there is in this country an institution which lends money—without interestt—to all comers, regardless of the borrower's social standing, business connections, race or religion? Screwy, eh?

Well, you're wrong. There is just that sort of money-lending organization, a society which, in the last half-century, has granted upward of 617,000 loans totaling nearly thirty millions and which has never once turned away an applicant for financial aid. Moreover— and this should be of interest to Mr. Hitler and those others who make capital of racial prejudices—this unique loan office was organized and is conducted by Jews!

An article in the current issue of Fortune tells how the Hebrew Free Loan Society of New York operates. Hiding its philantrophy beneath the cloak of the moneylender, this remarkable organization has adopted as its practical philisophy the principle enunciated in a verse from Exodus: "If thou loan money to my people, to the poor by thee, thou shalt not lay upon him interest."

Strangely enough, this unwonted faith in the innate honesty of mankind has justified itself. The annual loss from bad debts, the society reports, is less than 0.5 per cent. This, despite the fact that the organization doesn't investigate nor even ask a lot of embarrassing questions of the borrower.

Perhaps there's something, after all, in the credo that if you give a man charity, you pauperize him; but if you make him a loan—even a free loan—you restore him to society as a self-respecting citizen.—Contributed.

Hic, Hic, Hic's Illuminated!

Just when we have begun to get accustomed to "magic eye" doors and "invisible" show windows, science trots out a new gadget that makes us wonder just where scientists get their idea, not to mention their inspiration.

Plastic lucite, which already has been used for such diverse purposes as marking highways and illuminating the tip of an orchestra conductor's baton, now has been put to work to provide an illuminated keyhole! A ring of lucite around the keyhole reflects a hall light in the house—and erring gentlemen, seeking a helping hand to home and shelter, find both the right door and the lock that goes witi it.—Contributed.

THIS AND THAT

By ROY GRIFFITH DEETER

We philosophize: Well, the Glorious Fourth, like Christmas and New Year, to say nothing of Death and Taxes, and last week's roast, has come and gone, history has been substantiated, tempers have been either frayed or elated, but everyone seems to have had a good time one way or another, and we personally are relaxing with a determined sort of vigor. You know the kind, you are used to getting up with the birds but you lie in bed saying firmly "I will not get up, I shall sleep late, there is nothing to get up for" and about the time your eyelids flicked to the drooping position the cat upsets the milk bottle and you leap up in wide eyed alarm! However we did have two real periods of relaxation, and we made two discoveries to boot! We toddled down to the lower garden to a sheltered spot to take a sun bath, the wind was pretty frisky, that morning, and a bit on the Arctic side. Lying there with our eyes closed, we were suddeny aware that the wind was stirring first one tree, and then another, and after a while we could distinguish from the sound of the leaves, which tree was singing and which tree with merely humming. It was like a chorus of high thin voices or violin strings. Folks if you want a real singing tree, by all means get a weeping poplar, that tre practically swings it. Later we visited friends, and we sat at twilight by a lily pool and listened to a band of small gree frogs — the tuning up, before the actual concert was quite something. In fact the whole performance is amazing. After the tune up, the leader clears his throat and gives a couple of beats, and off we go, crescendo, piano, allegro, and andante—it is practically a entire symphony, and believe it or not, there is both melody and rhythm in a frog concert, if you will listen for it.

Perpetual motion: We were discussing this and that the other evening, local governmenship, and what have you, and came to the conclusion that the nearest thing to perpetual motion, is the state highway patrol! You see, it works like this, the people tell the governor, the governor tells the director tells the inspector, the inspector tells the captain, the captain, tells the people, and the people go screaming to the governor—Oh me!

Personalities: Dick Parsons vacationing here from the wilderness and desolation of Peavine quarantine station, and finding civilization a bit overcoming. Everett Alred well known sportsman from the Marysville section on the Murchie float with his nice bright red locks disguised by a huge black mustache and beard.

Noel Walsh, well known Pacific Coast radio technologist, riding the sound truck during our three day celebration, wearing a Mexican hat to get into the spirit of things.

The height of appreciation:—Friends who gave us a bottle of Scotch, because we gave them an idea. Anybody else need help?

With this, we say to you, cheerio, everybody!

Pledging his supprt ,if elected, to work for improved highways throughout the sixth assembly district, Allen G. Thurman, Colfax newspapermen, who is a candidate for assemblyman from this district has written Judge Raglan Tuttle, vice chairman of the highway committee of the State Chamber of Commerce that he will do all in his power toward the completion of the proposed highway program in Nevada County. His letter follows:

Colfax, Calif., July 1, 1938.

Judge Raglan Tuttle,
Vice-Chairman Highway Committee,
California State Chamber of Commerce,
Nevada City, California.

My dear Judge:

I was interested in reading in a recent issue of the Grass Valley Union a report made by your committee relative to the highway problems in Nevada County and the suggestion that the following recommendations be transmitted to the state chamber of commerce and thence to the Division of Highways of the Department of Public Works by September 2 for inclusion in the new biennial state budget.

1. Improvement of the Nevada City-Grass Valley-Auburn highway.

2. Improvement of the Yuba Pass highway between Nevada City and North San Juan.

3. Cutting of the Bear Valley "bottleneck" of the Tahoe-Ukiah highway.

4. Improvement of the Tahoe-Ukiah highway between Rough and Ready and Pet Hill.

Having traveled over these highways and knowing from personal observation that the improvements should be made, I want to assure you that, should I be successful in my campaign, I will do all in my power to cooperate in this matter to the end that the improvements be made.

I pledge myself if elected to work for improved highways throughout the district and will, at all times, seek the advice and suggestions of such citizens and organizations as are interested in improving our highways.

Respectfully yours,
ALLEN G. THURMAN.

RELATIVE OF NEVADA CITY MAN DIES AT 99

Forest Risley, Nevada City business man, received the sad message of the death of his step father several days ago at his home in Ellington, N. Y. If he had lived until the July he would have been 99 years of age. Six years ago this elderly man attended the golden wedding anniversary of his daughter. At that time Mr. Risley picked up a copy of the magazine "Believe It or Not," and recognized his father's picture and the article. Mr. Risley's father left 30 grandchildren, 40 great grandchildren, and 20 great great grandchildren.

Rex Robinson and Leo Angelini have gone on a week's vacation to Grants Pass to visit Robinson's mother, from there to Crater Lake and back down the Redwood highway to San Francisco over the two big bridges and home.

JOHN RAFFETO MAKES BID FOR ASSEMBLY SEAT

John Raffetto, Jr., who recently announced his candidacy for assemblyman for this district, is a descendant of one of the early families in Placerville, where he owns the Ivy Hotel. He is married and has two sons.

He states that he has made a survey of the counties in his district and finds a general desire that the next assemblyman come from El Dorado county.

He graduated from the University of California in 1930 and since that time has been engaged in the business of conducting two hotels in Placerville. He is a member of the Placerville Lions club and of the El Dorado county chamber of commerce.

"I am deeply interested in mining as well as in agriculture and pledge myself to all constructive legislation," declared Mr. Raffetto.

EPWORTH LEAGUE PLANS SUMMER CAMP MEETINGS

The Nevada City Epworth League will journey to Grass Valley Sunday evening to attend a joint Nevada City-Grass Valley league service and fellowship.

At this meeting, the two leagues will discuss coming plans for the annual institute to be held at Monte Toyon in August. Every year Epworth Leaguers meet at various places of scenic beauty for a week or two of living "out of doors." They sleep in tents and eat in the open and spend much of their time in group discussion and recreation. It is expected that a large group will attend from Nevada City which in the past has captured many banners at the institutes. The two leagues are planning to go together. Tom Richards is president of the Nevada City Epworth League.

TO COMPLETE TRUCK TRAIL

An allotment of funds has been received to carry on the Baker Ranch-Mosquito Ridge Truck Trail, otherwise known as the the Michigan Bluff truck trail, according to DeWitt Nelson, forest supervisor at Nevada City. Considerable heavy equipment has been added, including a six yard carry-all and several large deisel angle dozers and the work is being pushed as speedily as possible under the direction of Foreman Albert J. Parker.

PLATFORM

of DANIEL L. HIRSCH, M. D.
Candidate for Office of
CORONER OF NEVADA COUNTY

The Chief Purpose of the Coroner's Office is to determine the Cause of Death. A Physician and Surgeon trained in his profession, co-operating with the Sheriff, is better qualified to hold an inquest, make examinations, and determine that cause.

The Office of Coroner should be taken out of the hands of an undertaker whose chief interest is burial, and whose business deals with the disposition of the dead. When an autopsy is required by a lay coroner, he must call in a physician, who is he only one permitted by law to make post-mortem examinations.

There is no ambulance chasing for burials when a doctor is coroner, as he is a neutral party in the disposition of he remains. This important matter is up to the nearest relative, who should be given perfect freedom to choose the mortician.

It will be my policy as a Member of our County Medical Society to practice perfect justice in cooperation with my professional colleagues concerning autopsies and cases. It is my desire to serve this County, Efficiently, Faithfully, and Economically. Books, reports, and expenses will ever be open for public inspection.

With Justice and Service to all I pledge myself to carry out this program if elected.

DANIEL L. HIRSCH, M. D.

H. C. BENNETTS TO HEAD DRIVE FOR HATFIELD

OLD MORGAN HOME AGAIN CHANGES HANDS

Papers were recorded Wednesday conferring one of Nevada City's former attractive residences to new ownership. The old Morgan home located on a half block bounded by Main, Cottage and Winter streets and the adjoining lot owned by Attorney and Mrs. W. E. Wright has been bought by Mr. and Mrs. Frank Clark.

The property has been operated by Mrs. Rose Pontiscelli as an apartment house. Mr. and Mrs. Clark will make extensive improvements, complete remodeling the interior and exterior and will have then completed six modern apartments which will be rented or leased at attractive prices.

The Clark apartments as they will be known are admirably located with three street frontages and less than five minutes walk from the business section of the town. Walter H. Daniels, real estate broker, made the sale. This is one of four or five sales made by Mr. Daniels in the last 30 days, demonstrating the fact that there is a steady demand for real estate in this section.

Waiters, of course, are not in a position to snap back at ill-bred guests; but one English head waiter once made the perfect retort to an uncouth customer:

"My position, sir," he said, "does not allow me to argue with you; but if it ever came to a choice of weapons, I would choose grammar."

GARY COOPER AT HIS BEST IN MARCO POLO

A magnificent cavalcade of romance, splendor, excitement and fun will move swiftly across the screen of the Nevada Theatre Sunday and Monday nights in Samuel Goldwyn's greatest screen masterpiece "The Adventures of Marco Polo."

The production offers Gary Cooper in his most romantic role as the swashbuckling adventurer who was the world's first travelling salesman and opened the first important trade route between Europe and Asia during the colorful reign of the great Chinese Emperor, Kublai Khan, fighting and loving as he went.

The picture also introduces Sigrid Gurie, the Norweigian beauty discovered by Goldwyn.

When the story opens the romantic, adventurous young Marco is sent by his father from Venice to China.

Arriving in Pekin with his servant (and stooge) Binguccio (Ernest Truex), he amuses and impresses the great Khan and falls in love with his daughter the beautiful Princess Kuchakin (Sigrid Gurie), who is pursued by the villianous Saracen, Ahmed, who determines to do away with Marco.

Marco Polo is captured by Lord Kaidu (Alan Hale) a general at war with the Khan. Kaidu's beautiful but jealous wife (Binnie Barnes) falls in love with Marco and Kaidu promises to let him live as long as he can keep her amused and off this trail.

Meanwhile, Kublai Khan gives Ahmed full control of his army and he villian plots to send the army to destruction in a typhoon in the China Sea and marry the Princess.

The girl sends an appeal to Marco who persuades Kaidu to rally his army and march to Pekin to attack the palace and save the princess.

Cooper is at his lovable romantic best as the swashbuckling Marco, the lovely Sigrid is something to see, and others who score in the magnificent cast are Rathbone, Truex, a welcome addition to the comedy annals of screendom, Hale, Barbier and Miss Barnes.

One of the most glorious entertainments of all time, "The Adventures of Marco Polo" must be seen. It will thrill and delight you.

NEW TEXT FOR POLICE STUDY

BERKELEY, July 7.—The thrilling story behind "Calling all Cars", the blinking red signal light over street intersections and elsewhere and all other signaling and communications devices that start the sirens sounding and the squad cars rolling, has been told at last. It is contained between the covers of a book titled Police Communications Systems, from the pen of V. A. Leonard present head of the police communications system of Fort Worth, Texas, and formerly a member of the Berkeley force. The volume has just been issued by the University of California Press, and according to Samuel T. Farquhar, University Printer is the most complete and revealing work of its kind yet issued.

The book details the manier in which the intricate webs of police communication are spun and are galvanized into quick, throbbing life by such occurrences as a bank robbery or a murder. There is considerable information covering the setting up of police call sfstems in even the smallest communities, and the book is recommended as a text for every type of police department and sheriff's office.

The book shows in interesting manner the way in which the police communications systems have been built up from the days of the loudly vocalized night watchman to the present maze f teletype systems, identification bureaus, car and station radios, and last but not least, patencial television.

Rotary Envoy

ful gardens had been spirited away as if by magic and the arena transformed into a ballroom, and transformed back into a garden before the next morning.

The delegates had their first opprtunity to burst forth into song at the opening of the second plenary session on Tuesday morning, and this became one of the enjoyable features of the convention, under the remarkable leadership of Arthur Shank of Pasadena, who was voted the song leader without peer. At this session occurred one of the high lights of the convention, the international round table of Rotarians when Rotarians from eight foreign countries arose and told about what Rotary was doing in their respective countries. One of them, C. F. Samuels, delegate from Penany Straits Settlement, had traveled 10,000 miles to reach the convention. He stated that in one club in his district the president was a Chinese, the vice president an Englishman, the secretary an American, and the board of directors was composed of English, Scotch, Chinese and Indian. Three religions, Mohammedan, Buddist and Christian are represented in some of the clubs, yet all meet on common ground.

JUVENILE REFORMATION

Mayor Burton of Cleveland, Ohio, flew out by plane to address the convention on "New Horizons" and gave a very interesting and heartening narrative of the regeneration among the boys of Cleveland—heartening on account of the inference that the same results can be accomplished in other cities. Mayor Burton made the statement that democracy will not crack up in small towns, but that the thickly populated cities are the danger points. Juvenile gangs engaged in almost every crime short of murder were transformed into Junior Civic Clubs working for their own betterment and that of the community.

QUICK FIGHT

The banquet for the 105th District was held in the Mart Club Rooms on the ninth floor of the Furniture Mart on 10th and Market, and was a very enjoyable occasion. In order that no fight fans would miss the banquet a radio was installed to get the championship fight broadcast. I heard the first round starting as I went through the hotel lobby, rushed out and grabbed a taxi so as not to miss any more of the fight than possible, and was informed by the elevator girl as I entered the Mart building that it was all over. President Duperrey, accompanied by his wife and several staff officers paid a courtesy visit and gave a short talk at the banquet. He made the remark the next day that he had attended 11 dinners with only one stomach, but he was actually starved to death when he got back to his hotel, because at none of them had he been offered any thing to eat.

ALMON E. ROTH SPEAKS

"Men and ships"—a clinical study in human relationships on one of the world's most turbulent water fronts" by Almon E. Roth of the San Francisco club was especially of local interest. Mr. Roth had been chosen to conduct research into the causes for the labor disturbances on the San Francisco water front because he was trusted by both the employees and the employers. Mr. Roth's investigations convinced him that the causes for interruptions to trade and trade are the same the world over. We have made great progress in physical sciences and mechanical arts but can well be ashamed of our conduct of human relations. International disputes are still settled by war, and industrial disputes by strikes, lock outs, embargoes, etc., and cause untold misery to thousands. He says eventually they are ended by arbitration, so why not arbitrate in the beginning.

In the past year he said we have had in the nation four thousand strikes causing the loss of twenty six million working days, and probably a billion dollars in wages. His recommendations are: good wages and fair working conditions, always realizing that there is a ceiling above which the cost of production is excessive but also there is a floor below which decent living standards cannot be maintained. Collective bargaining must be recognized, unfair labor practices eliminated and contracts must be lived up to by both parties. There never will be a panacea and there will always be disputes, but they can be minimized by a fair and honest attitude on both sides, and a belief in the value of arbitration.

The vote for President showed 2116 for George Hager of Chicago and 1933 for Allen Street of Minneapolis. By motion of Allen Street, the convention voted unanimously to elect George Hager president, a fine gesture that brought applause from the delegates.

Various business was transacted in the afternoon and proposed enactments and resolutions for the future government of Rotary were acted upon. In the evening a very enjoyable boat ride was provided the delegates, taking in the two bridges, Alcatrax Island, Angel Island, the fleet of battleships, cruisers, and Treasure Island, the site of the 1939 Exposition. Treasure Island was fully lighted for the first time in honor of this trip.

Some statistics and side lights on the convention follow: There are 4706 member clubs throughout the world with an estimated number of Rotarians at 198,000. The total registration from the United States at the convention was 9,843, while 566 registered from outside the United States, representing 195 clubs in 48 different countries.

The chairman of the reception and housing committee for the San Francisco club was James A. Johnston, warden of the federal prison at Alcatraz.

During the convention President Duperrey announced that he had received word that he had become a grandfather, and "owing to the wonders you Americans perform, I received the word five hours before he was born."

From Aunt Sarah

Here's one that Aunt Sarah read recently in some paper or magazine and tried it, and it works. It's one of five minutes to go recipes.

Take one small can of Chili concarne and one can of red kidney beans (none other). Mix together, add a little ketchup, tomato sauce or whatever you like. Place in baking dish, cover the top with strips of bacon and bake under the broiler until bacon is cooked. Serve this with a crisps tomato salad and it will satisfy the hungry fishermen anytime.

ALLSTARS BAND PLAY SAT. NIGHT AT OLYMPIA

Again Lake Olympia scores a direct bulls eye in securing the Allstars orchestra for tomorrow night's dance at the Island of Dreams Pavilion in Lake Olympia.

This dance band has an unique record. The Allstars has been an organized dance band for 15 years, played seven years solid at Robinson's corners, 52 weeks for Al and Cal. Pierce, 104 weeks at Paradise Pines, besides this they have played many important dances at Stockton and also for Kaiser brothers. Consequently the Allstars come to Lake Olympia with a record of more than pleasing the dance loving public.

The Grass Valley Firemen and baseball club have used this band for their annual dances this year and those events are still being talked about.

One feature which makes the Allstars popular is that they play the latest swing orchestriations and also the sweet numbers both equally well.

It would seem impossible for any one who has any rhythm in their makeup to resist dancing to the rhythm of the Allstars.

BALLOT MEASURE IS EXPECTED TO BAN LABOR WARS

By RALPH H. TAYLOR

There is a growing realization on the part of the public at large that labor wars — paralyzing businesses and industries, throwing tens of thousands out of employment and disrupting trade and orderly development—have been a major factor in plunging the nation from depression into recession.

In California, particularly, strikes and other labor disturbances, have brought terrific losses, with rival labor czars, in their stampede for power, riding rough shod over the rights of both workers and employers and openly resorting to violence, coercion and intimidation to achieve their ends.

With the state already staggering under an unbearable relief load, industrial teiups have compelled thousands of workers to walk out on their jobs and join the tremendous army of 825,000 persons now supported in California by the dole.

Farmers have been denied the right to drive their own trucks to city markets, or to have their farm hands deliver their produce. Trucks have been stopped and in some cases overturned. Other farmers, at harvest time, have had their crops branded as "hot cargo"; still others have suffered heavy losses because of maritime strikes which prevented shipment of their commodities.

In the face of such coditions, it has become imperative that steps be taken to restore law and order and to eliminate labor abuses such as jurisdictional wars; "sit-down" and "stay-in" strikes; "hot cargo" boycotts; interference with lawful use of streets and highways; coercion and intimidation, whether of workers or employers, and other practices which have endangered the welfare of the entire state. Consequently, the Agricultural Council of California has given its approval to the initiative act scheduled for submission to California voters in November, which is designed to stamp out such abuses and make for peace in idustrial relations.

Briefly, this act will: (1) permit employes voluntarily to organize in associations which are actually of their own choice, without coercion from any existing organization or from any other source; (2) limit the use of pickets to the actual parties to a labor dispute solely over wages, hours and physical conditions of employment; (3) limit the use of boycotts to such as are directed against an employer, by or at the request of the bona fide employes of such employer, solely because such a labor dispute exists between them; (4) declare the illegality of and prohibit "sit-down" and "stay-in" strikes; (5) keep the highways, docks, wharves and other channels of trade and commerce free from unreasonable burdens and interruptions not directly resulting from lawful activities of the actual parties to a bona fide labor dispute over wages, hours and physical conditions of employment; (6) adjust the balance of power between an employer and those members of a labor organization engaged in a bona fide labor dispute with such employer so that, whether such employer be large or small, true collective bargaining and a truly voluntary agreement between such employer and such organization of employes may obtain; and (7) preserve and protect the peace, safety, health and welfare of the people of California, whether members of the consuming public, the workers, or the employers.

Under the proposed act, picketing at any place of business shall not at any time exceed one for each entrance, provided, however, that a minimum of two pickets shall be allowed at each place.

Of vital importance to farmers, the act also provides that "It shall be unlawful for any person to cause the driver in whose custody any vehicle is moving along any public place, to slow down or stop the progress of such vehicle or conveyance" with the intent to halt the delivery or produce, et cetera.

Another important proviso stipulates that that "In the event a primary strike exists at some but not all of the places of business of an employer, those places of business of such employer at which no primary strike exists may not be picketed." The act also prohibits "sit down" and "stay in" strikes; regulates the methods of picketing, prohibiting all forms of intimidation and coercion; provides that any person whose business has been injured by voilations of the act may sue to recover damages; requires pickets to carry credentials from their union; sets up penalties for violations, etc.

It is to be hoped that California agriculture will lend its whole-hearted support to the campaign in behalf of this initiative to the end that industrial disorders may be eliminated ad that business may be given an opportunity to achieve recovery.

SCOUTS FLOCK TO CAMP PAHATSI

Council Boy Scout Camp, opened Sunday, July 3, at Camp Pahatsi to an eager, expectant group of scouts, who continued to stream into camp during the afternoon. Scouts were assigned to tents under the direction of Scout Master Milo Tally and this assistant. Jim Merrifield. Sixty one are in camp this week.

Between 90 and 100 are expected next week. During the prior to camp the staff has been busy preparing camp. They finished repainting the boats, and placed new oar locks, and completed a large stage on Campfire Point. This was directed by Roy Berryman.

An overnight hike to Devil's Peak is planned this week. Camp this year promises to be the best of any camp held prior to this time. The largest camp staff that has been known is attending camp to give additional help in tests and supervision.

COUNTY BOARD OF EDUCATION

Tuesday the county board of supervisors re-appointed Mrs. Mary Sweet of Wolf to succeed herself as a member of the county Board of Education and appointed Henry Spies, recently elected city superintendent at Grass Valley to succeed James S. Hennessy, veteran member of the board, who has served thereon longer than any of the present members. Mr. Hennessy was not a candidate for reappointment.

CONFIDENCE IS RETURNING TO BUSINESS MEN

By JOHN CRADDOCK

NEW YORK, July 7.—BUSINESS—to the business man confidence is the basis of profits, and the prospect of profit is what makes prosperity. Factories are reopened or new ones built as soon as operators believe that there is at least a 50-50 chance of being able to sell more merchandise at a profit in the near future. The return of confidence usually begins to manifest itself in the stock market. People are willing to pay more for stocks and bonds of corporations once they feel assured that earnings and dividends are likely to increase. Last week men and women all over the country and even in Europe began to invest idle money in American securities. Result—the stock market rose to a new high for 1938. Even confirmed pessimists had to admit that all signs indicate the low point in the depression is behind us.

WASHINGTON—New bank examining rules okayed by President Roosevelt last week will for the first time enable small businesses to issue bonds and sell them to their local banks. It is estimated that as much as $3,000,000,000 of private money may thus be made available to store operators, small manufacturers and contractors. Old regulations prevented banks from buying bonds which did not have a ready market. Another new regulations which will be helpful to small business men permits bankers to make long term loans (loans of more than nine months), a type of lending which formerly was discouraged.

INVENTORIES—One of the soundest, underlying reasons why business men feel that business recovery is in the making is that inventories have been greatly reduced. Inventory is unsold merchandise on the shelves of retailers or wholesalers or in factory warehouses. In depression periods, when there is great uncertainty, manufacturers generally fill orders from inventory already accumulated rather than keep factories going ful steam turning out goods that it may be impossible to sell. By this process, called working off inventories, the supply of goods available for public consumption grows smaller and smaller. Eventually a point is reached when orders no longer can be filled from inventory. Then production must be started again, men and women go back to work and a new recovery cycle is launched. Inventories of wholesalers at the first of June were 14.8 per cent lower than a year earlier, a very healthy sign.

HEADLINES —New car registrations declined, but filling stations see upturn in business—reason: Old cars burn more gas than new ones. Miami to have movie colony—studio under construction will begin producing cartoons and later do full length features. Cigarette production shows increase over last year. Private power companies last year paid a tax bill of $330,000,000 or 16 per cent of gross revenues. United States Business cites uptrend in building as brightest spot in business picture. Over 100 general magazines gained an average of seven per cent in circulation last year. Survey of 33 cities shows retail drug store sales greater in those communities having larger percentage of chain food stores. United States has 30,000,000 automobiles, or 70 per cent of world's total. More than 70 per cent of American homes now using electricity.

JUST WONDERIN'

I wonder about work and play,
For sometimes I confuse them,
But still, to gain the most from both
One must learn how to use them;
If work is play and play is work,
As often seems the case,
How may the two be told apart
When met with face to face?

I wonder if the line of demarkation between work and play, is as thin and variable as the proverbial one between the sublime and the ridiculous.

Certainly ideas and methods of work and play have altered greatly during recent years; shorter work days, additional leisure, opportunities for life long learning and the ever increasing popularity of hobbies, are a few of the factors which have aided in bringing about beneficial changes in daily thought and action. Work performed with honesty of purpose and enthusiasm, play animated by the spirits of adventure and experimentation may combine to lead us along enchanted trails to broader fields of endeavor and to a clearer understanding of life and life's experiences.

Honest love, honest sorrow,
Honest work for the day, honest hope for the morrow,
Are these worth nothing more than the hand they make weary?
The heart they have saddened, the life they leave dreary?
Hush! The seven-fold heavens to the voice of the spirit
Echo: he that o'oercometh shall all things inherit.

I wonder why some one doesn't write a book, entitled, It Can't Happen There. A few facts might be recorded in this fashion: Members of the German Bund in convention assembled, dedicate their pure and uncontaminated blood to Herr Hitler, goose step, Hiel and amuse themselves by socking pictures of our leading statesmen—It can't happen in Russia.

Communists held a demonstrative conclave in New York City; which was attended by delegates from every section of the country; leaders raised the red flag, sang the Internacionale, lauded Stalin and his regime and denounced all other forms of government including our American Democracy. It can't happen in Germany.

The Peace Conference denounces the tactics of aggressor nations and calls upon invading armies to cease the bombardment of helpless civilian populations: It can't happen in Italy, Spain or Japan.

I wonder why some folk labor under the delusion that American citizenship like a foreign title, may be bought and sold, doffed and donned ad lib. This is not true; one may discard his American rights, and privileges, but later, when he wishes to regain them, certain formalities bar the way; this is as it should be, for the desirable citizen of America, should be endowed with a keen sense of values and steadfastness of purpose. We may welcome the returning expatriate with becoming reserve, but his come-back should not be made too definitely easy. —A. MERRIAM CONNER.
